Should I send direct to her then. What is Thursday? I'm so busy right now I don't recall.

Sorry for the late reply. Really busy these days.

The cost thru 3/28/2019 for the ITC response is $119772. The region has submitted PR's for $142417.36. CMAD has expended none of their funds on this so far.

The Emergency Response Task Order ceiling is close to being reached and an increase to the ceiling will be submitted to make the capacity for hurricane season. The contract officer and specialist were made aware of the situation and are loading the funds as soon as they are available in EAS. When I get time I will work on amending the documents for the task order ceiling increase through the EAS system.

Hi Tim:

Info Gina would like, see below. This is just a reminder to discuss this item Thursday, because I'll forget...

Sure, I'll ask. I believe Tim keeps up with this.

As far as reimbursement from the region or PRP, no idea, I'll look into.

Scott - When you are in KC, can you please check in on the ASPECT budget?

Specifically, I want to get some data on what the burn rate has been for ITC and how much has come out of our budget so far. Then - I would like to know what that does to our budget for the rest of the response season.

We usually budget for an emergency deployment or two - but I would like to make sure a) we have ample funds headed into hurricane season, and 2) we have ample capacity (this has been an issue in the past). Also - I assume that eventually the Agency will get reimbursed by the PRP. But - in the meantime, does the Region reimburse us first and then get it from PRP? Or - do we wait until everything is said and done with the PRP (which, could take years, I assume)?

Thx.
